Southern Wings

- offers an easy, transparent, and flexible process for states to effectively conserve their migratory bird species of greatest conservation need;
- is a critical complement to in-state investment on migratory bird stop over and breeding habitats;
- leverages limited state funds and can provide non-federal match for SWG and PR funds;
- has RAWA-ready projects to conserve migratory birds and their habitats;
- identifies strategic, biologically relevant projects with high quality; and
- helps keep species off the Endangered Species Act by addressing annual cycle conservation needs.
