Welcome to the Water Signage

Welcome to the water.

Thanks for supporting South Carolina's natural beauty. Excise taxes on the fishing equipment and motor boat fuel you use — and the fees paid for state fishing licenses — help our state manage sport fisheries, improve fishing and boating access, and protect healthy aquatic environments. These vital conservation efforts will ensure that the outdoor activities you love now will be enjoyed for generations to come.

   The Sport Fish Restoration Program partners to fund 9,000+ boating access and fishing areas across the United States. Scan the code at right to learn more.

Target Shooting Range Signage

Feel at home on the range.

Thanks for supporting conservation in Ohio. Wildlife Restoration funds from manufacturers' excise taxes on your ammunition, firearms, and archery equipment have allowed our state to acquire land, complete construction projects, and expand accessibility. These funds also give Ohio additional resources for hunter education, wildlife research, and new facilities to pursue your passions and hone your skills. Because you're at the target range today, you're ensuring that the outdoor activities you love now will be enjoyed for generations to come.

Wildlife Restoration funding supports more than 700 target shooting ranges across the United States. Scan the code at right to learn more.
